09.30 Welcome remarks

09.40 Your face is a weapon

Tey El-Rjula,
The Invisible Man

10.05 Is blockchain the key to establishing trust?

Many companies are integrating blockchain into their business as an example of their security practices. But in today's digital world, where it is hard to know who/what to trust, how can we be reassured that blockchain practices are really securing and maintaining the integrity of our information?

Tey El-Rjula,
The Invisible Man

Peter Penning,
Head of IT Finance & Procurement,
IT Lead Blockchain Team, ING

Peter Verkoulen,
Coalition Manager,
Dutch Blockchain Coalition

Simon Sanders,

10.40 Our shared responsibility for AI – augmenting the human ingenuity

Zsuzsanna Mátrai,
Corporate Affairs Director, Central and Eastern Europe, Microsoft

11:05 Break

11:25 Intelligent business – coworking with AI

AI presents us with the opportunity to evaluate our relationship with work. To fully deliver on its promise, a human-centric approach is needed, but what degree of human involvement is necessary to ensure decisions made by machines, particularly in a commercial setting, are not skewed?

How can an IoT and AI enabled world lead to new job growth, and ensure inclusivity well into the future?

Marleen Huysman,
Full Professor, Head of KIN Research,
Head of Information, Logistics
and Innovation Department,
VU Amsterdam

Rina Joosten,
Co-founder, Chief Commercial
Officer, Seedlink

Katja van Kranenburg-Hanspians,
Partner, Head of Technology,
Media and Communications,
CMS Netherlands

12.00 Will 5G divide us?

Old models need to be set aside to ensure 5G networks are diverse, flexible, widespread and efficient. How can we ensure industry and government work collaboratively to achieve ambitious rollout goals, and put in place the digital infrastructure on which our connected world will be increasingly dependent?

Sicco Boomsma,
Director, Telecom Media and Technology, ING

Rob Cameron,

About our speakers

Peter Penning

Head of IT Finance | ING

Peter has a life-long passion and career in software development. He is the founder of ING's blockchain team in 2014 and has led the team for several years. Peter represents ING in the Dutch Blockchain Coalition, with a specific interest in self-sovereign digital identity.

Christian Runte

Partner | CMS Germany

Christian's advisory practice focuses on German and European data protection law as well as on assisting his clients with the development and distribution of software and other technology assets. He is also widely experienced in handling German and international technology transactions and IT outsourcing projects.

Christian's clients include international technology companies and service providers who particularly appreciate his negotiation skills.

Simon Sanders

Attorney-at-law | CMS Netherlands

As a former in-house counsel for a leading telecommunications multinational, Simon was hired by CMS to lead the telecommunications practice. Since then the practice has been expanding at a rapid pace. In addition, Simon advises both suppliers and customers on all legal aspects of contracting and implementing complex IT projects. His knowledge of the technical and operational aspects of telecommunications and IT, combined with his legal skills, are widely acknowledged.

Katja van Kranenburg-Hanspians

Partner | CMS Netherlands

Katja heads the Employment & Pensions Practice Group and the Technology, Media & Communications Sector Group of CMS in the Netherlands. She advises international companies about high profile employment law related matters such as cross-border outsourcing and transfer of undertaking, collective/individual dismissals, co-determination, trade unions and collective bargaining agreements, expatriate matters and remunerations. She is a frequent litigator on topics as transfer of undertaking and high profile dismissals. Katja is actively involved in the partnership of CMS in the Dutch Blockchain Coalition where she heads the Human Capital Agenda.

Dirk van Liedekerke Partner | CMS Belgium

Dirk specialises in EU and Belgian competition law and telecommunications law. With more than twenty years of experience in these areas, his expertise ranges from advising major EU public operators on electronic communications regulation, to assisting with litigation on inter-operator conflicts, regulatory complaints, and competition and merger control filings and litigation. He counsels and assists undertakings active in all industries in respect of the implication on their business activities of the Belgian and EU competition rules.

Geoffrey van Meer Head of Data Intelligence | RTL

Geoffrey has an extraordinary interest in media consumption: RTL sells emotion. Geoffrey's data science team collects and analyzes data, for example through text mining and face recognition of the actors. Using various AI techniques he quantifies the emotions in TV-content and supports program makers and creatives in their daily business to make content that meet the needs of the viewer. The Data Intelligence department of RTL plays an important role in the digitization of RTL as a multimedia company. Previously Geoffrey worked in the financial sector at ING and Rabobank. He holds a Phd in Economic Psychology.

Peter Verkoulen Coalition Manager | Dutch Blockchain Coalition

Peter obtained his M.Sc. in Computer Science from Eindhoven University of Technology. After a research project with five Dutch universities, he also obtained his Ph.D., after which he worked as an assistant professor at Twente University.

Afterwards, he moved to the Dutch Ministry of Traffic & Transport, responsible for a number of ICT innovation projects. In 1997 he moved to Atos, holding many roles on the edge of ICT, business, management and sales. Often taking new challenges, thinking "out-of-the-box", cooperating in teams with colleagues, customers and sometimes even competitors. In total, Peter has worked for Atos for 16 years, with a two year intermezzo as an outsourcing advisor for KPMG/EquaTerra.

In 2015 Peter became CEO of Brightlands Smart Services Campus. A triple helix organisation creating an ecosystem of large companies and organizations, SME's, start-ups, students and researchers jointly innovating in the area of digital transformation. Built from scratch, BSSC now consists of some 80 companies and organisations. In relation to this role, Peter also became a part-time professor at Maastricht University.

Since September 1, Peter is the Coalition Manager of the Dutch Blockchain Coalition (DBC). The DBC is a cooperation between partners from government, business and science with the objective to create a safe and sound blockchain infrastructure for The Netherlands, in the broadest sense of the word.

About our speakers

Chris Watson

Global Head of Technology, Media and Communications | CMS UK

Chris is one of the world's leading communications law experts.

He is recognised in The International Who's Who of Telecoms & Media Lawyers 2018 as a 'Most Highly Regarded Individual' in which he is described as "exceptionally bright", and boasts an "amazingly international practice". He is also included as one of only 15 Global Elite Thought Leaders in the Who's Who Legal Data – Telecoms & Media 2019.

Chris focuses his international practice, particularly in the areas where competition law and regulation overlap, and on EU law arising in cross-border and complex electronic network industry transactions. He also has extensive experience in other regulated network sectors such as postal, electricity and other utilities and as well as broad experience on commercial, corporate, and financial matters. His background training as an EU competition lawyer means he has special insight into the competition aspects of regulatory work.

He is a past member of the governing Council of the International Bar Association (IBA), chair of its Diversity Council and a past chairman of the Communications Law Committee. Chris's memberships also include Supreme Court of England and Wales, and the Paris Bar.
