Supporting you with data protection and cybersecurity

Expert legal advisers

2018

Precious resources need top legal protection

The challenges arising from data are countless and inescapable in our maturing technological landscape. To future-proof your organisation, and unlock opportunity from your data, you need alert and experienced lawyers who'll deliver practical advice. CMS has over 100 data protection and technology sector-focused lawyers ready to deliver legal and practical advice.

One-stop-shop

Clients turn to CMS to advise on global data privacy, protection and information security projects. Leading multinational companies, many of which hold large amounts of sensitive data and are heavily regulated, have instructed us to advise them on multi-jurisdictional data privacy and information security projects.

Global AND local

Our teams are flexible in that they handle both large multinational projects but can also deep-dive for niche, country-specific advice. The teams are on the ground in over 40 countries, speak the local language and understand the local laws - but crucially in a global context.

Pragmatism and business acumen

CMS has a knack for turning legal advice into practical solutions that make sense not just to your legal teams, but to your other employees, such as the HR function, or software engineers.

The team prevails against competitors.

JUVE, TMT, 2018

They are a very joined-up team and slick operation with a number of thought leaders.

Chambers and Partners, Data Protection, UK, 2018

Pragmatic, reachable and uncomplicated.

Chambers and Partners, TMT, Europe-wide, 2017

Up-to-speed advice on the latest technological issues.

Legal 500, 2016
