Digital presence

CMS's digital presence (cms.law) was designed with the visitor in mind. This means that users can view our online content – whether publications, online services, event calendars, news or contact information – based on their interests. For example: When users log on, they are automatically geo-located to the right country and the right language. Once on the landing page, they see content that is relevant to that jurisdiction, rather than a standard homepage.

Our aim is to connect you with the right lawyers and provide you with the information you are looking for quickly and easily, also from your mobile devices. Our website is also seamlessly integrated into Law-Now, our online legal knowledge resource, and our e-guides, providing you with quick access to all CMS expert information.

It is the quality of the work, the speed of it and they are also very knowledgeable to work with. So, it is the whole package and they have specialists within the different areas, so you get to talk to people who really know [...] the relevant law.

I really like CMS. I think they come across well; as very client focused, commercial [and] focused on the big issues rather than arguing over the nitty-gritty which, at least for me now being in-house, I see how important that is.

Expertise in different laws; it's tax law, labour, civil, commercial [and] business law. It's obvious for me. They have the best experts in each of these topics and are able to work together in complex situations where different laws are involved. So, this cross-law experience and expertise is really something unique.

Diversity at CMS

We develop and support a diverse workplace in which all are welcome regardless of gender, marital status, race, colour, national or ethnic origin, social or economic background, disability, religious belief, sexual orientation or age.

Our people

In today's business environment, thinking and working across borders is essential. At CMS, we strongly encourage networking and collaboration amongst all our lawyers.

Beyond the work in cross-border teams, we also offer them several opportunities to meet and get to know their colleagues from across our CMS offices, whether at our regular trainings run by the CMS Academy or in informal settings such as the CMS Football Cup.

CMS Academy

The CMS Academy plays an important role in helping to ensure that we deliver first-class service to our clients. Besides improving business skills, the CMS Academy fosters cross-border collaboration and relationship-building through a range of non-legal trainings. In each phase of their careers, we offer our lawyers tools and methods to become better advisers.

Expertise trainings

CMS lawyers meet regularly to learn from each other by sharing their best practices, latest sector knowledge and local expertise. This allows us to ensure that you receive the best service and solutions to meet all your needs, both from a local and a global perspective.

CMS Football Cup

CMS organises an annual football tournament for all CMS employees. Colleagues from across CMS meet for a weekend of sporting activities and networking opportunities. Over the years, the tournament has grown in popularity – in 2017, 600 players in 62 teams participated.
