For more than 30 years, Thomas J. Meyer has been a member of the CMS Private Clients practice, working on numerous complex national and international cases with a focus on advising and representing families, entrepreneurs and private individuals on estate and succession planning. He served on the board of various foundations and is regularly called upon to execute wills. If required, he also represents his clients in court.

Real estate law is Thomas's second area of expertise.

In its section on private clients, the JUVE law firm guide has been listing Thomas for years as a "frequently recommended lawyer".

Thomas joined CMS in 1987 (then: Fischötter, Micheli & Partner).
