Emergency Response: Regulatory Dawn Raids

Any incident. Any time.

Emergency Response: Regulatory Dawn Raids

An increasing number of authorities have the power to carry out unannounced investigations, meaning that the prospect of a regulatory dawn raid is an everyday reality for many organisations. Authorities with dawn raid powers include the Competition and Markets Authority, the Serious Fraud Office, the Financial Conduct Authority, HMRC, the Information Commissioner's Office and the Health and Safety Executive.

We can provide legal and technical support in the event of a raid. We can also help you to plan for a possible dawn raid to ensure staff are briefed and ready to respond in what may be a stressful situation.

Dawn raid support

- Our specialists are experienced in dealing with raids and investigations. We have first-hand experience of dealing with many different types of raids conducted by a wide range of regulatory authorities, and advising clients in subsequent investigations.
- Dealing with dawn raids often requires large scale resources, particularly if multiple sites are raided simultaneously. We have large multi-disciplinary dawn raid response teams in locations across the UK, as well as teams worldwide. This means that we can ensure that any dawn raid is fully resourced. This is of critical importance to effective management of a raid.
- We have experience of dealing with both basic and more sophisticated IT aspects of regulatory raids and investigations. Our dedicated teams can provide IT support to match the IT expertise brought by the regulatory authorities on the day. We have the most up-to-date software, including AI-enabled solutions and the software used by all the key investigatory agencies, to review significant volumes of data and find the 'smoking guns'.

- Review of current policies and guidelines.
- Training and mock dawn raids.
- Full legal support in the critical period after a raid – from undertaking further internal investigations to making leniency applications and other submissions.
