Film and TV Production and Financing

Our team has gained extraordinary knowledge of the sector acting for a wide range of producers, financiers and distributors in this space. We understand the issues facing filmmakers and TV producers in today's competitive landscape – from development and rights clearance to financing, accessing tax credits and other production incentives and all production and distribution related matters. As a result, we can help you make the right strategic decisions, both in the UK and across the globe, thanks to our fantastic international network of media specialists

Our expertise

We act for independent film and TV producers, UK and US studios, distributors and an array of debt, equity and structured financiers as well as media funds. We also advise producers on accessing incentives and tax credits around the world and how to structure co-productions accordingly.

We advise TV production companies throughout their lifecycle, from establishing new production businesses founded by high profile TV executives, to advice on the structuring and talent agreements needed for big budget shows and distribution deals.

Our lawyers are experts in development deals for film and TV, from option agreements for underlying rights to deals with scriptwriters and showrunners. We advise on cast, producer and director deals as well as Guild issues. We also specialise in script reads and in the exploitation and protection of TV formats.

International expertise

Our international expertise sets us apart from our competitors. Our network of production and finance specialists across the globe enables us to provide our clients with the high-quality advice they have come to expect from our team, wherever in the world they are producing or financing their project.

Industry involvement

Our lawyers are actively involved in key industry bodies such Women in Film and Television, the Royal Television Society and the British Screen Advisory Council. Through our involvement with these organisations and bodies, we help to shape and define the sector. We also played a major role in government consultation processes in relation to the film and television tax incentives in the UK, Germany and Belgium.

Trusted advisors to high profile client base

Our client base is the envy of our competitors. We act for Sony, NBCUniversal, BBC, ITV, Warner Bros. Discovery, FremantleMedia, EndemolShine, Vice UK, Paramount, Really Useful Group, Fifth Season and Elysian Film Group. On the financing side we advise Ingenious Media, Barclays, Coutts & Co, Ashland Hill and Union Bank, to name just a few.

We are also lucky to act for high profile film and TV talent including Jeremy Clarkson, Tim Bevan & Eric Fellner (Working Title) and Andy Harries (producer of The Crown).
