Subject CMS advises ALPLA on latest acquisition

ALPLA continues to expand: CMS advises on acquisition of packaging manufacturer Wolf Plastics

The internationally active specialist in recycling and packaging solutions ALPLA is adding to its already broad product portfolio. ALPLA was advised by CMS again on its recent acquisition of Wolf Plastics Group.

In the acquisition signed at the end of July 2021, CMS experts from the areas of M&A, antitrust law, regulatory, employment law, real estate law, IP, data protection, and tax law comprised the project team for ALPLA. In addition to its interdisciplinary expertise, the international law firm once again display edits proficiency with respect to handling cross-border deals. With three independent production facilities in Austria, Hungary and Romania, Wolf Plastics is one of the market leaders in its field in Central and South-eastern Europe. Closing is subject to applicable regulatory approvals.

“We were once again able to provide seamless legal advice on a complex cross-border transaction, contributing to our client further expanding its portfolio,” emphasises Alexander Rakosi, Partner at CMS Austria. Wolf Plastics has specialised in producing plastic containers and canisters for the construction, chemical, and food industries for decades.

In addition to lead partner Alexander Rakosi, the core corporate/M&A team consisted of lead associate Marie-Christine Lidl and Florian Mayer. At CMS Austria, the team also included Associates Anna Hiegelsperger, Christoph Birner, and Thomas Liegl (all Corporate/M&A), Partner Dieter Zandler and Associate Vanessa Horaceck (both Antitrust), Partner Jens Winter (Employment), Partner Robert Keisler and Associate Marlene Wimmer-Nistelberger (both Regulatory), Associate Mariella Kapoun (Real Estate), Counsel Hans Lederer (IP), Attorney Johannes Scharf and Associate Andreas Lichtenberger (both Data Protection), and Partner
